

ON THE ROAD TO FIND OUT...

The road goes ever on and on
Out from the door where it began.
Now far ahead the road has gone,
Let others follow it who can!
Let them a journey new begin
But I at last with weary feet,
Will turn towards . . .

COMMENCEMENT '76

A few short years ago, we each entered high school with our own ideas of what to expect, only to find that Westview was very different from what we had previously experienced. Our early days of structured education provided us with the basic tools of learning. Despite the fact that our early education consisted of an innovative system, it was designed to prepare us for the higher levels of learning that would follow.

So, we came to Westview with ideas, hopes and a touch of nerves. The initial fears and uneasiness we experienced during those first weeks soon faded as we settled into a daily school routine. Eating lunch with the same group, or rushing to meet someone in the library soon became as much a part of school life as our classes. Although we couldn't become familiar with all the staff and students, we soon found others with similar interests. Whether it was through sports, music, student council or just classes, we became aware of the individuals around us. Teachers seemed more approachable and fellow classmates, who seemed so remote in September, often became our closest friends.

In the time that followed those first few days, we each underwent numerous changes. Individually, we began to grow, physically, emotionally and intellectually. We saw others grow and strive to make school teams or achieve a personal goal. Soon the few people we associated with in Grade Ten became many by graduation time. The close relationships we formed with other students and with our teachers instilled within us a sense of belonging to the school as a whole. We became a part of Westview and Westview became a part of us.

In time, Westview became an integrated part of our lives, around which our friendships and our work were centered. We went to the dances, listened to the lectures on Seminar Day and made fools of ourselves on Grafitti Day. We even went so far as to sit on each other's laps in the middle of a football field to form the world's largest self-supporting circle. Perhaps we were crazy but it was all in the name of school spirit. It was this sense of spirit that brought us in contact with not only our own students, but those from other schools as well. Inter-school competition strengthened our loyalty to Westview, particularly when our teams were victorious. But they also provided us with the opportunities we needed to work for what we really wanted, whether it was a football trophy or a Kiwanis championship.

For the most part, it was the individual achievements that made high school so enjoyable. The teams, the clubs, and the organizations are the true reasons behind our individual growth. They made available opportunities to discover new interests.

Of course, some derived enjoyment from other areas. We can all recall the distinctive aromas that floated out of the chemistry labs, or the expression of some unsuspecting student who was foolish enough to sit within the firing range of the torpedo crowd in the cafeteria. Yet, despite our mischief, we found time to do our schoolwork. Some even learned to cope with the ordeal of those too-frequent and too-long oral presentations and exams. The work we put into our assignments and tests, however, was not a wasted effort.

We now realize that formal education is necessary and desirable; but we must also be given the opportunity to learn from outside the classroom situation. For this reason, our involvement in school activities was encouraged rather than frowned upon. In fact, our most valuable learning experience occurred when we were given the opportunity to learn more about our friends and ourselves.

In this way, the school teams served to show us the importance of competition and strategy, as well as sportsmanship. The clubs taught us a wide variety of skills. These organizations helped us to work within a democratic group. The key, however, is that these learning experiences were not apparent to us at the time. It is only by reflecting upon them that we realize the full importance of what was considered to be just fun.

Of course, individual growth does not stop now that we leave high school. The difference, however, is that we have now reached the point where we need a change. We do not regret leaving Westview, for we have successfully reached our main objective for entering high school; to stimulate our growth. The time has come for us to begin the self-discipline necessary so that through our own efforts, we will be able to establish ourselves within the real world outside Westview's doors.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The Westview yearbook has become an established tradition at Westview. Within these covers are recorded the feelings, the achievements, the ambitions and the personalities of some twenty-three hundred students. This publication will serve in years to come as a prop for the memory, bringing back for you pictures of experiences at school. I know that all of us will enjoy browsing through these pages which are a true reflection of this past year.

The editors and contributors have laboured long and hard in the production of this excellent yearbook. It was a genuine student co-operation.

May I on behalf of the staff and students offer my sincere thanks and appreciation for your outstanding effort.

To those students who are leaving this year to enter the business world, community college or university, I wish you the best of luck and success in your future plans.

Excellence in education is not so much teaching a child what to think, but how to think, so that he goes on seeking, choosing, and thinking, thus developing the persistent habit of inquiry and reasoning; and if, years later, the knowledge he has acquired in school becomes irrelevant to his purpose, he still has the ability to acquire new knowledge and to adapt himself to new circumstances.

WHAT WOULD WE DO
WITHOUT TEACHERS?

MUMS

These are the "Mums", who were responsible for keeping Westview a nutritionally balanced school. The donut and pop breakfasts and the hamburger and french fry lunches will always remain a vivid memory for Westview students. Thank you ladies, for making Westview lunches what they were.

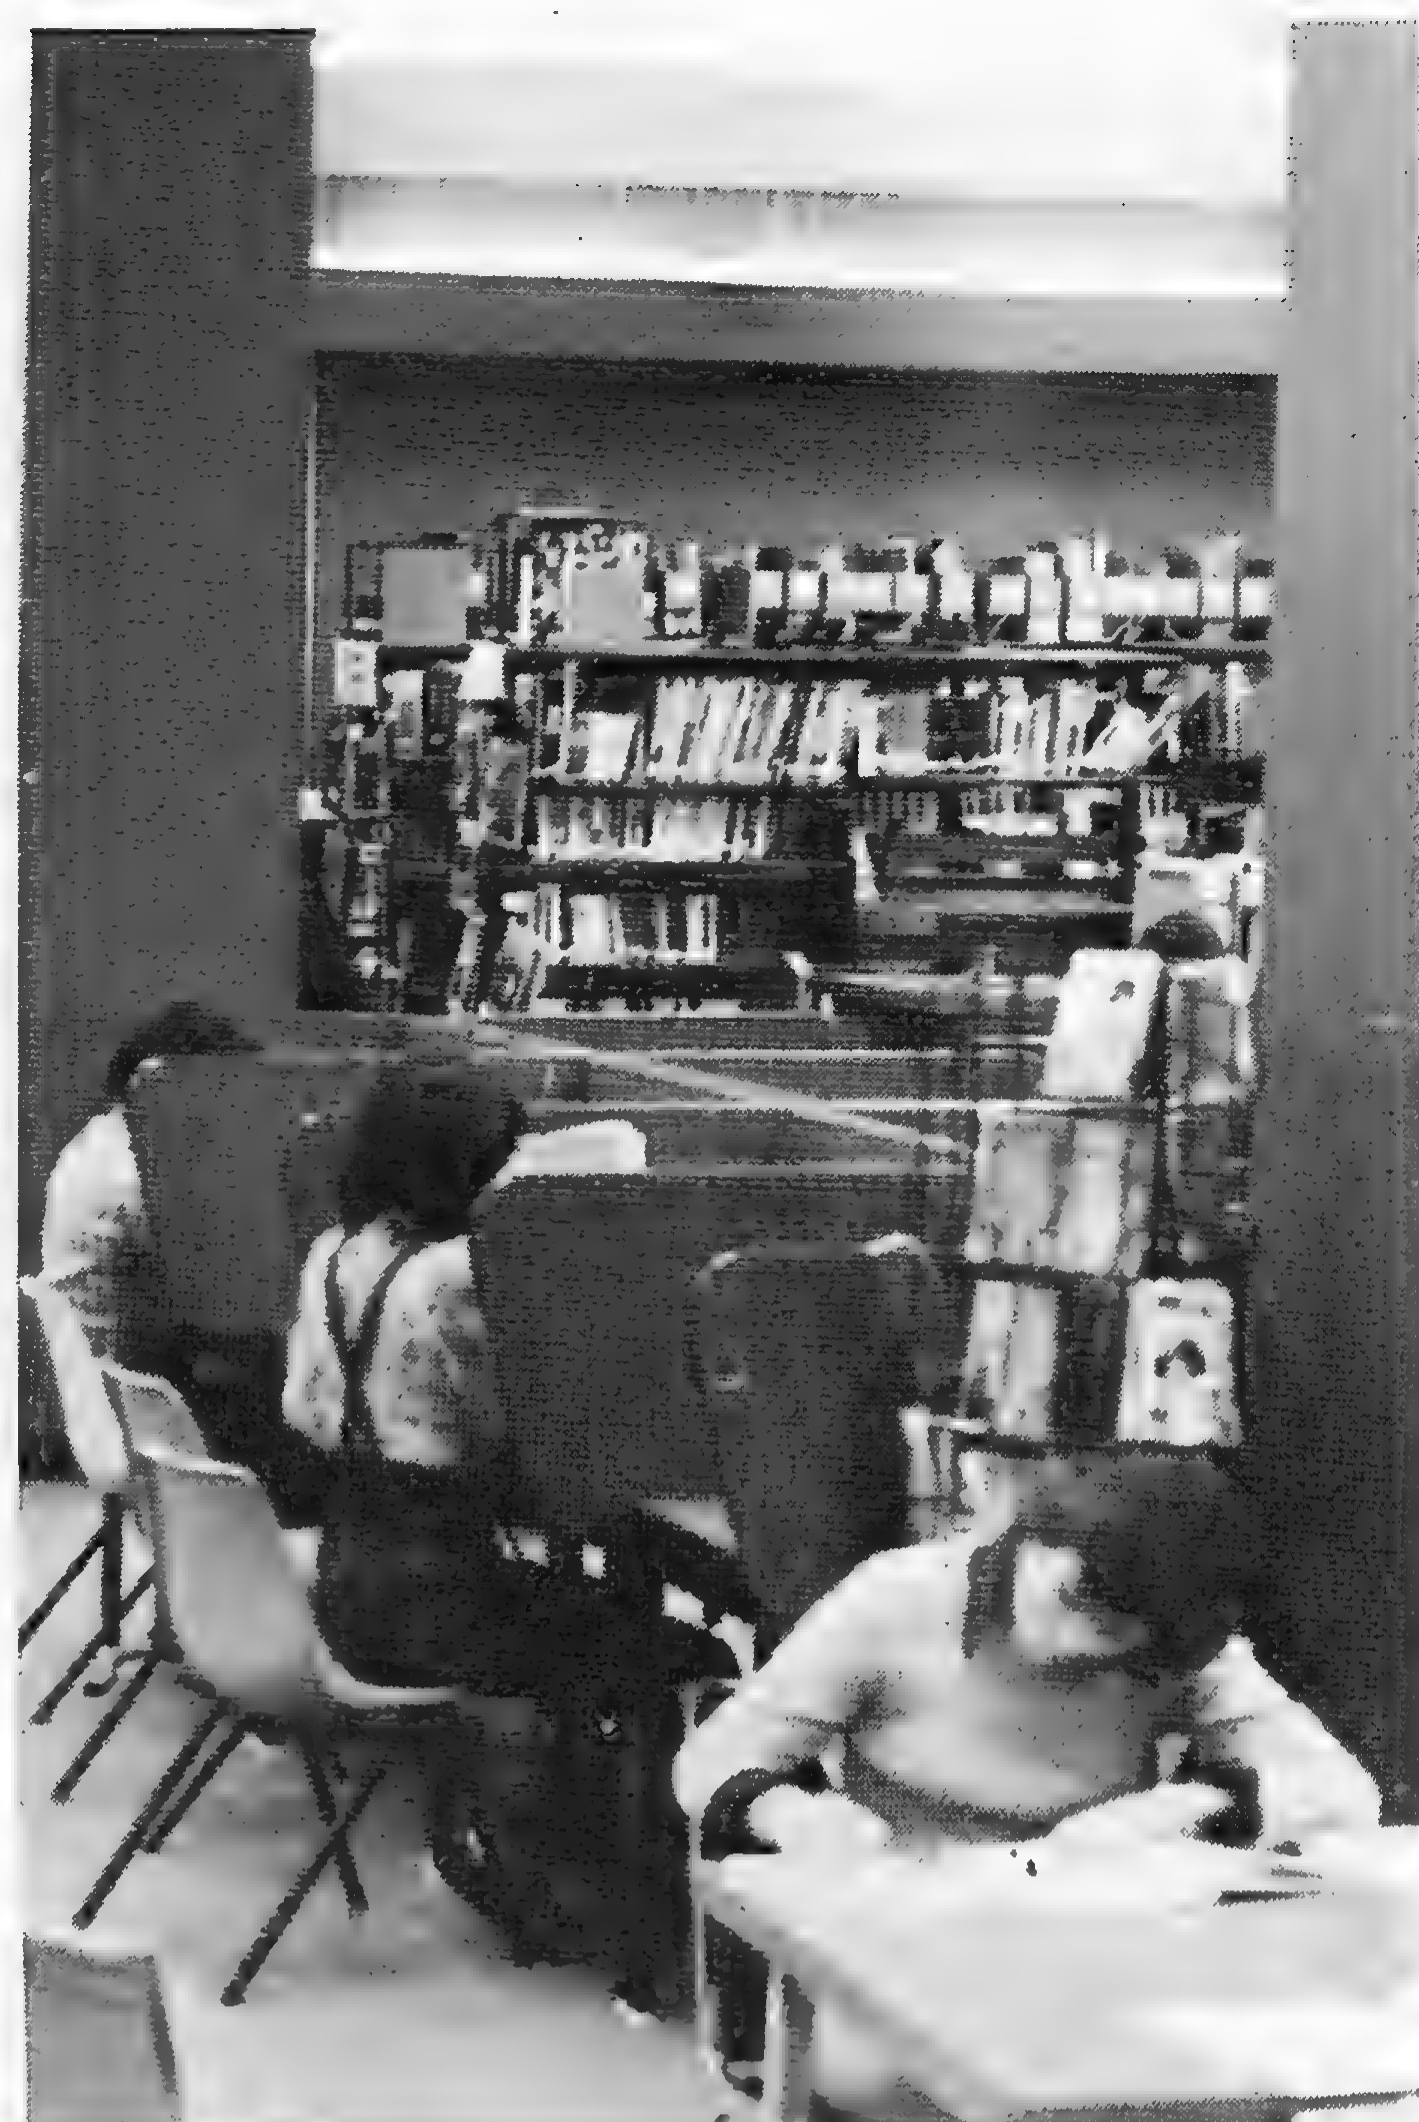

CARETAKERS

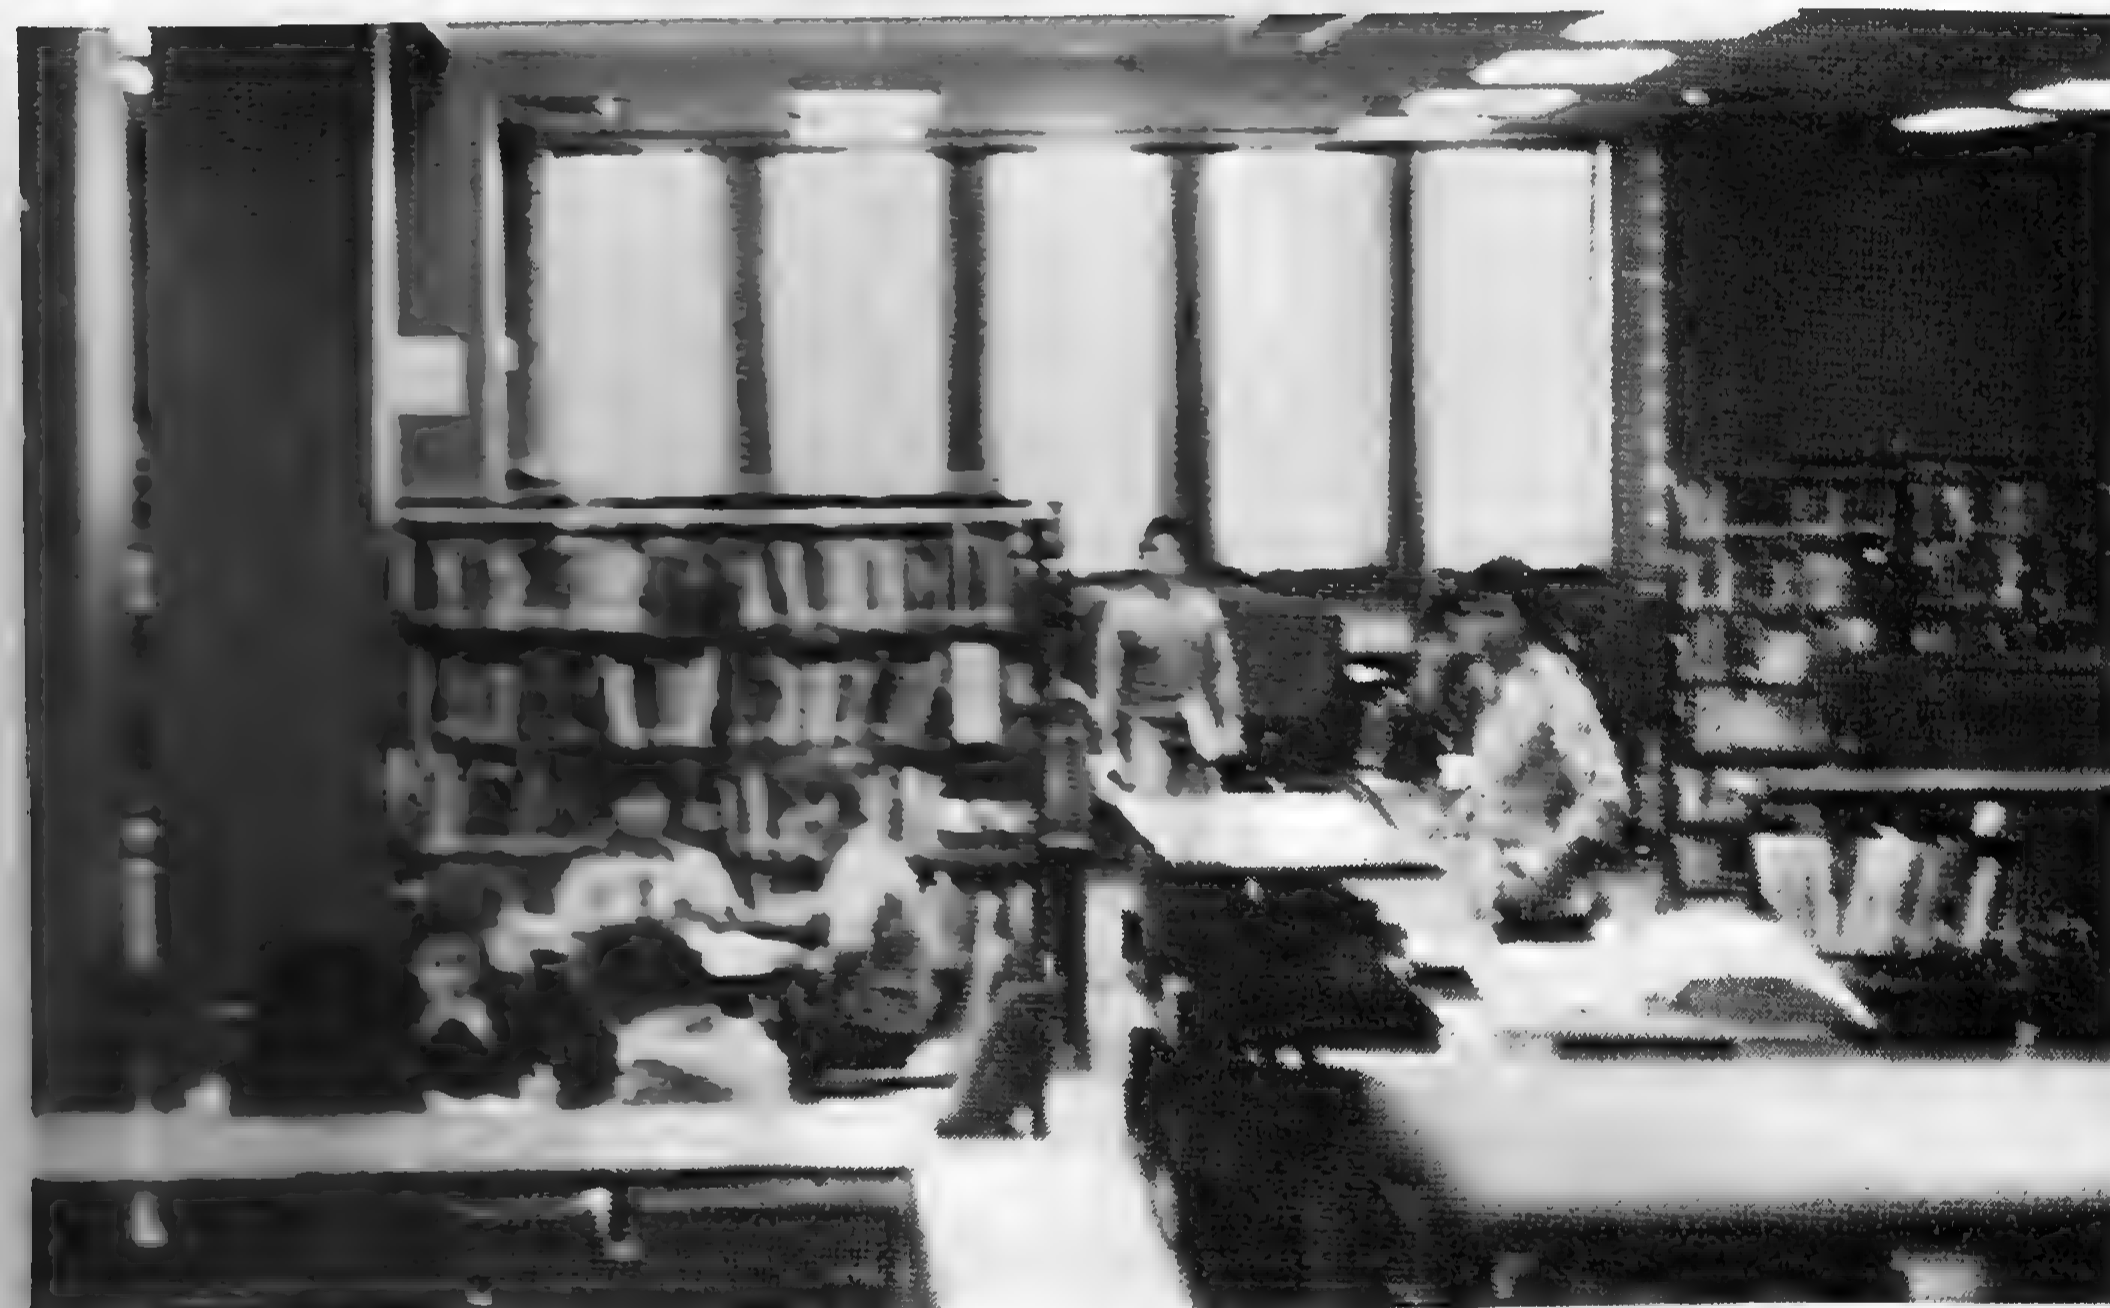

The caretakers were very important for school life at Westview. If it had not been for them, cleaning up after dances and school gatherings, Westview would have been totally unbearable to face in the morning. Thank you gentlemen, for clean-up as much of the garbage in Westview that you could. What would we have done without you?

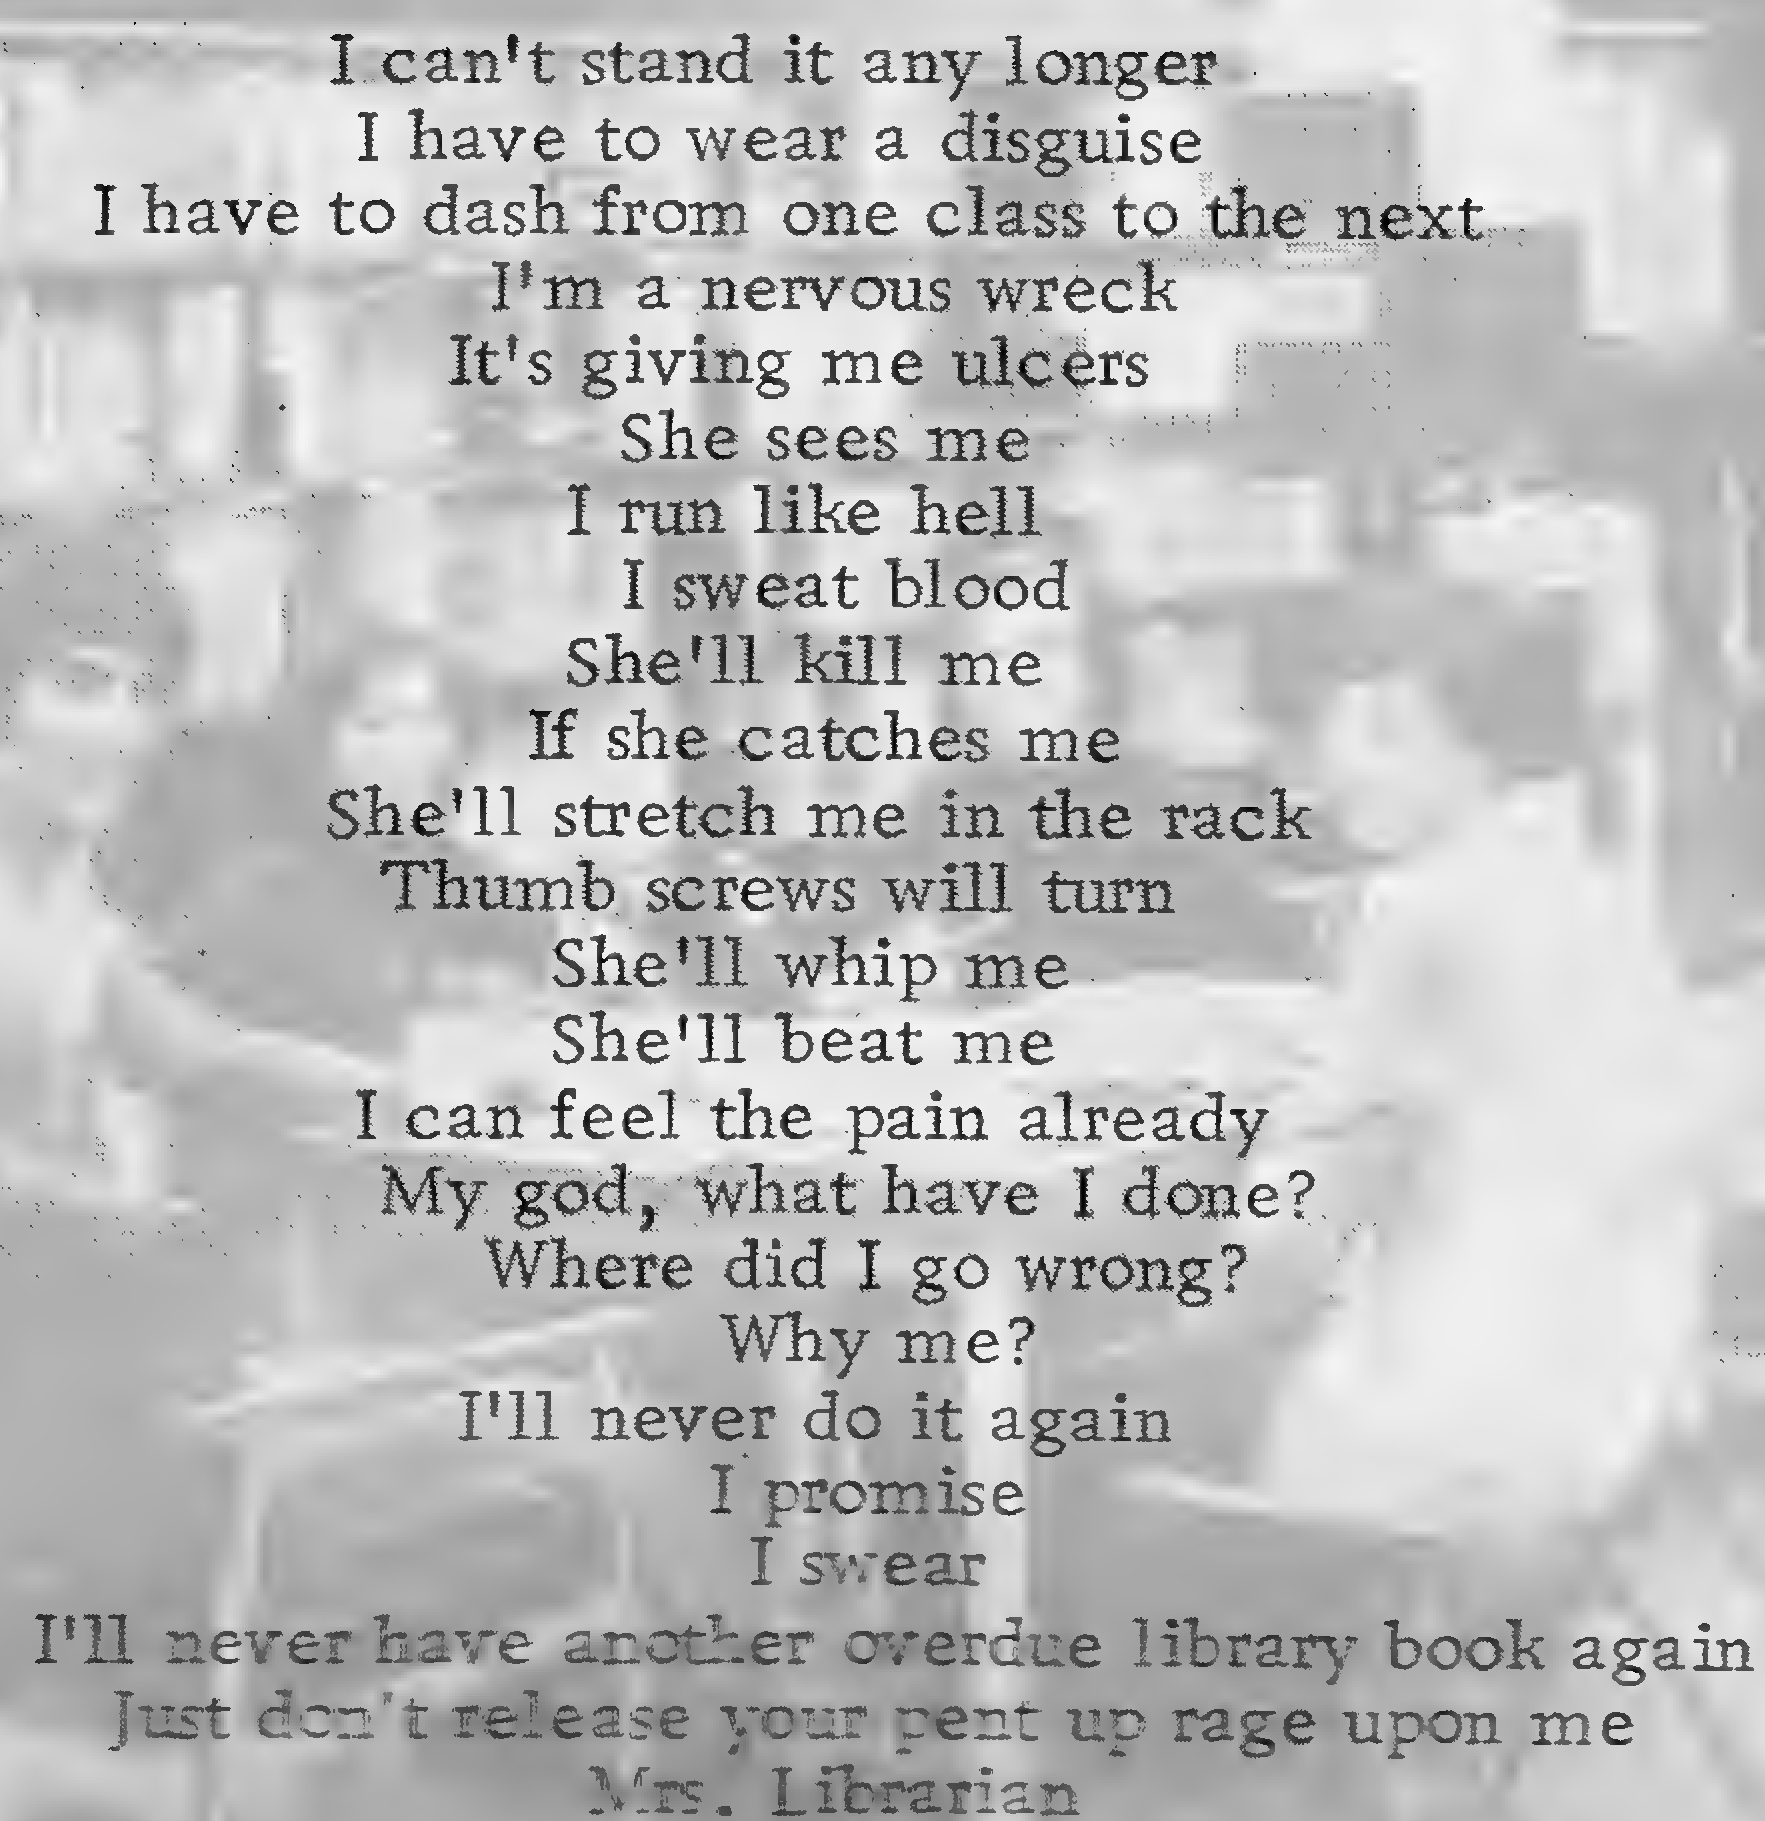

LIBRARIANS

LIFEGUARD

I can't stand it any longer
I have to wear a disguise
I have to dash from one class to the next
I'm a nervous wreck
It's giving me ulcers
She sees me
I run like hell
I sweat blood
She'll kill me
If she catches me
She'll stretch me in the rack
Thumb screws will turn
She'll whip me
She'll beat me
I can feel the pain already
My god, what have I done?
Where did I go wrong?
Why me?
I'll never do it again
I promise
I swear
I'll never have another overdue library book again
Just don't release your pent up rage upon me
Mrs. Librarian

To Whom It May Concern:

He's cool, humourous, intelligent and most of all, not boring.

It was that lucky day when I got a spare from math. I decided to go to my friend's history class.

I have seen Mr. X. in the cafe before, but never have I spoken to him. To my surprise he said that as long as I behaved myself, I could sit and listen. Well, I did my best, and you know I enjoyed myself more in those five minutes than I had all year!

Well sir, uh, Mr. Moore - As I said before, you're cool, humourous, intelligent and most of all, NOT BORING!

So I say thank you,
Miss N.N.

...to face in the
...you gentlemen, for clean-
...of the garbage in Westview
...could. What would we have done
...you?

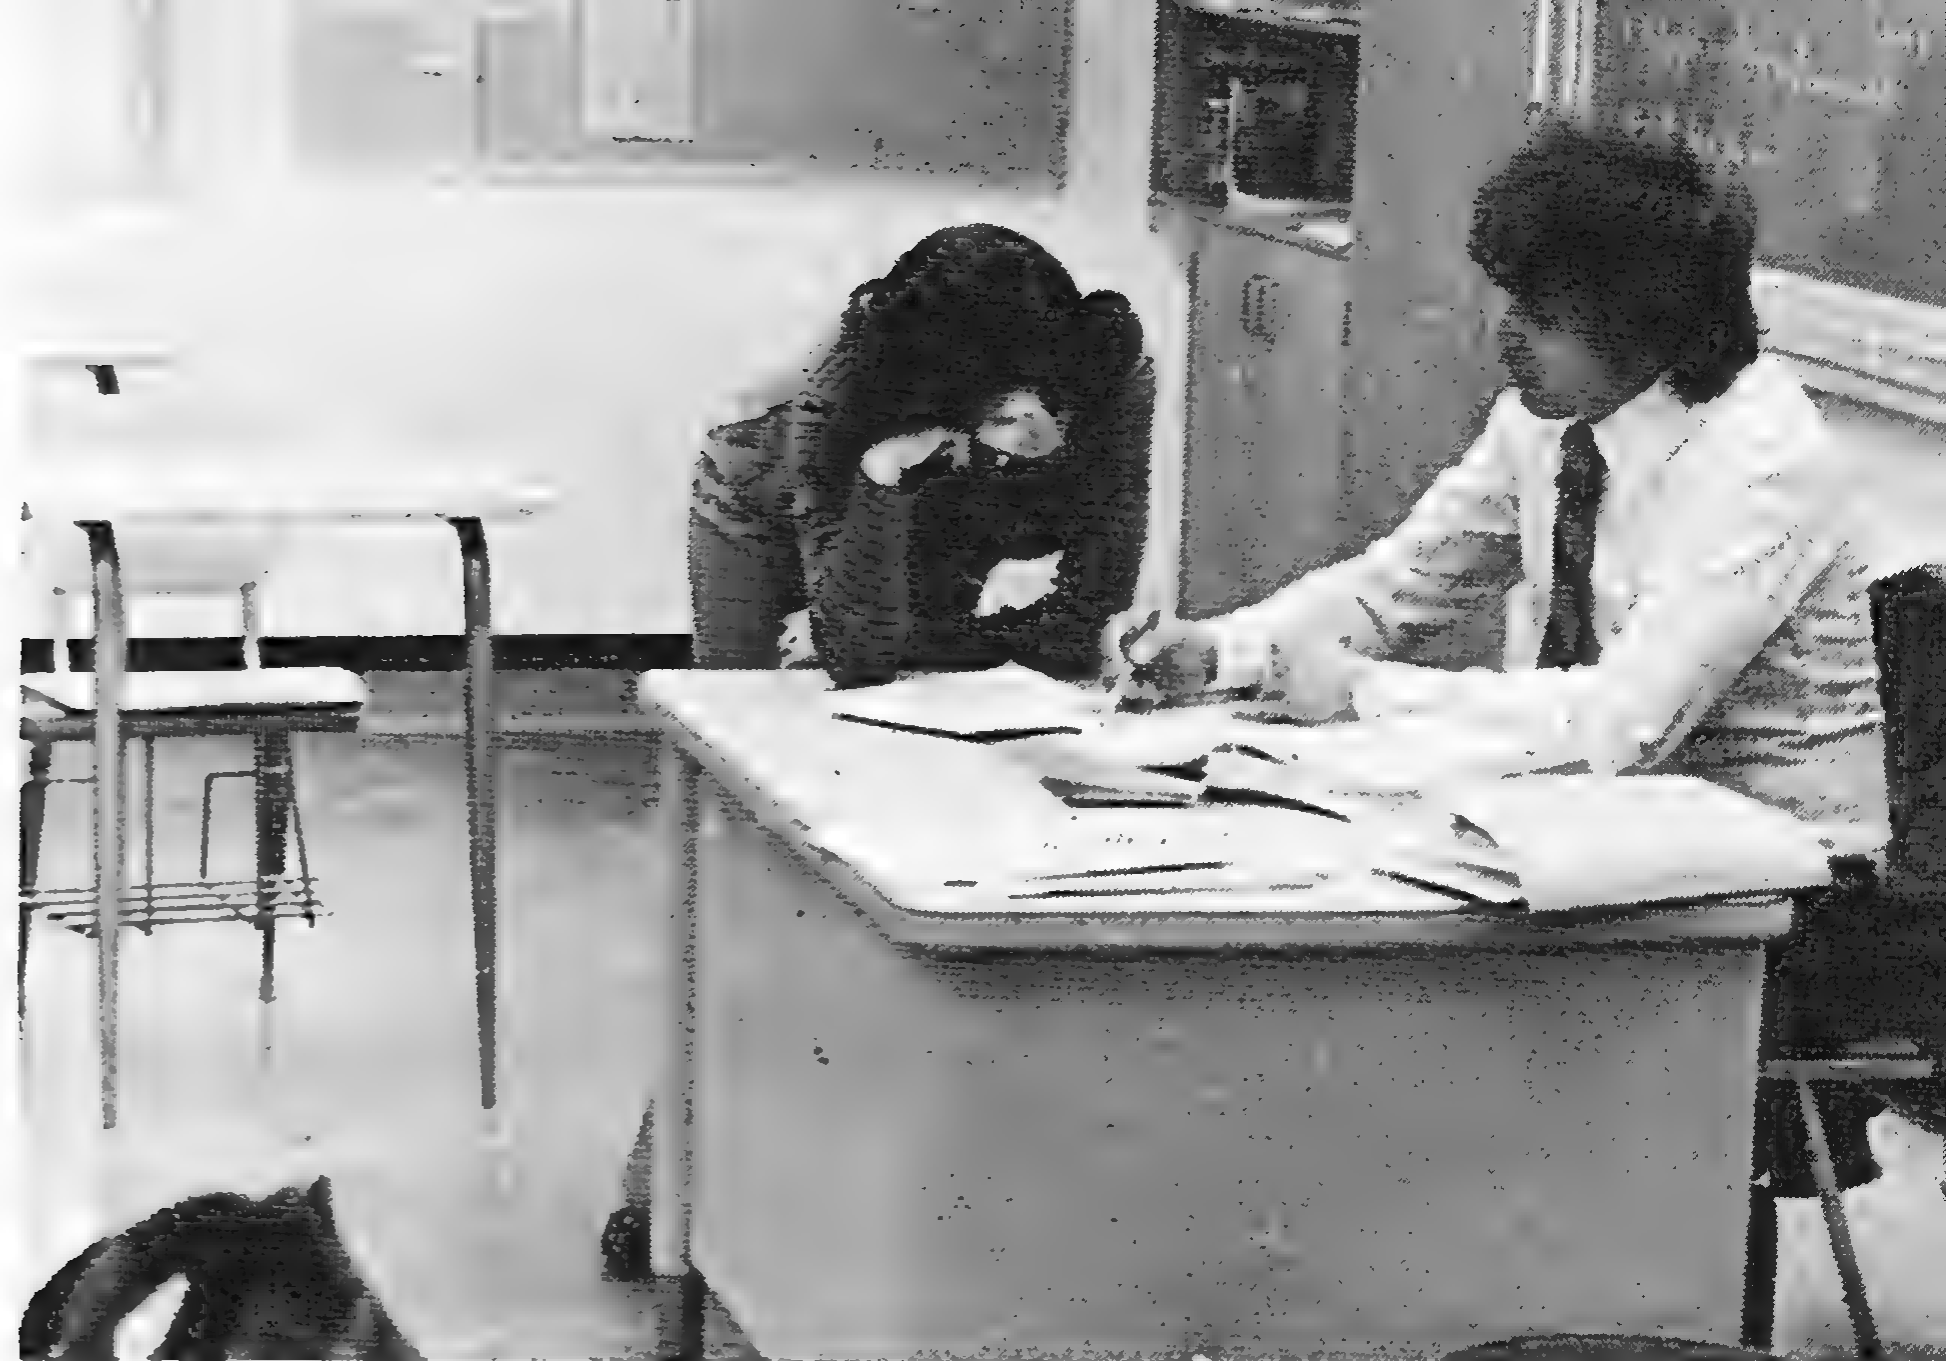

"All these people and they didn't tell me my fly was undone."

"This amazing device that peels potatoes and shreds carrots is available for the low price of $29.95."

"AW Coach, I didn't break his arms - I only twisted them a little."

"Don't they teach you this stuff in health?"

"Hey, pick up that garbage before you take the picture!"

"Look at that gorgeous man. Do you think he's a teacher?"

"Would you like to dance?"

LOST DOGS

They all drift throughout the sea
searching for reality
a nine-to-five life
two kids, one wife
security

SECURITY: knowing you won't be shot dead in your bed
as the result of the effect of ultra-violent radio-active moon rays shining on a flower outside your window causing it to jump and scream and run in terror from the red elephant that creeps through the neighborhood setting fire to already burnt-out people.

FRANKLY: I'd give it all up for one good shot of kool-aid with the man-in-the-moon.

We'll get those cockroaches out yet!

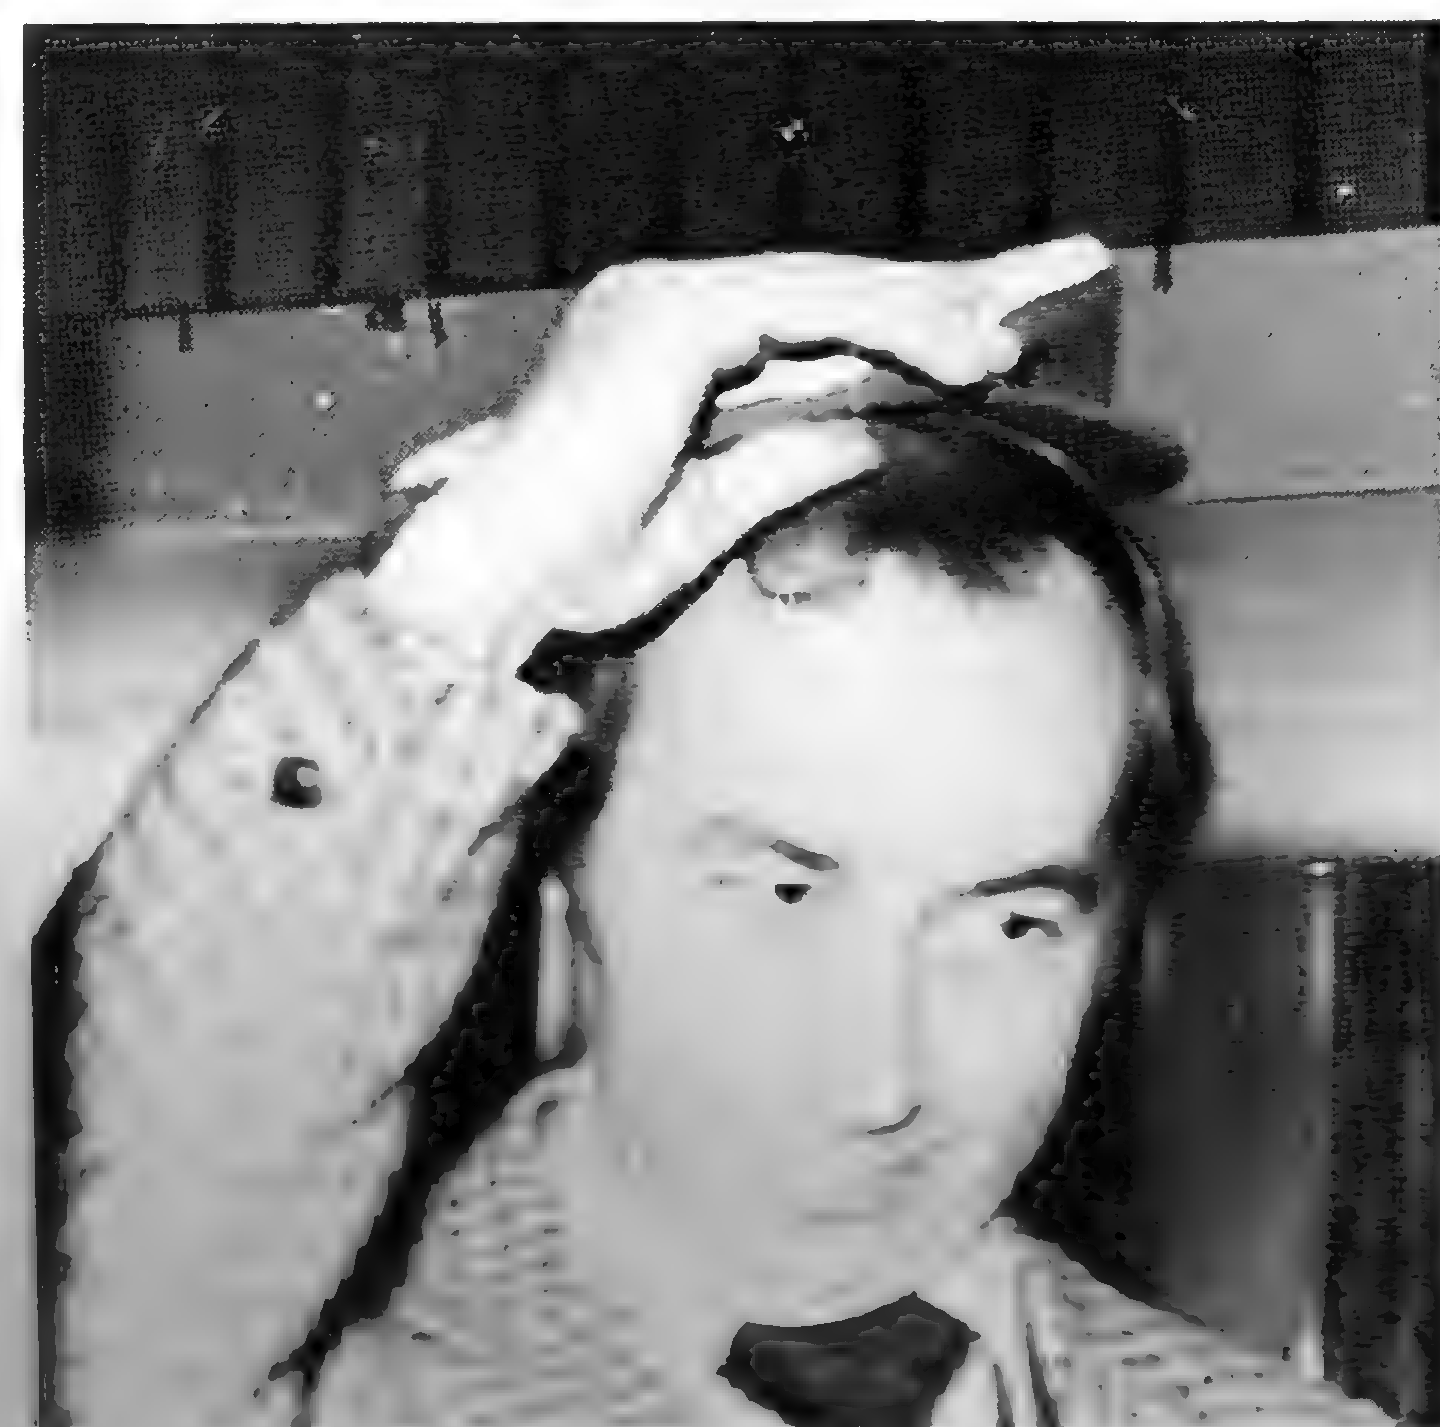

It isn't Swiss Chalet but it'll do!

The manual says that you have to take the car down before you drive away!

I think I'll leave now, before it's too late!

Top of the morning to you!

I think I should just chop it up for firewood!

Didn't you know hats are in fashion now?

Gee, I didn't know a spirit hat would make me so popular that I would have to sign autographs!

This experiment has to work! I've got to prove that physics allows you to show a film on a water faucet.

This picture was taken at auditions for a remake of "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest".

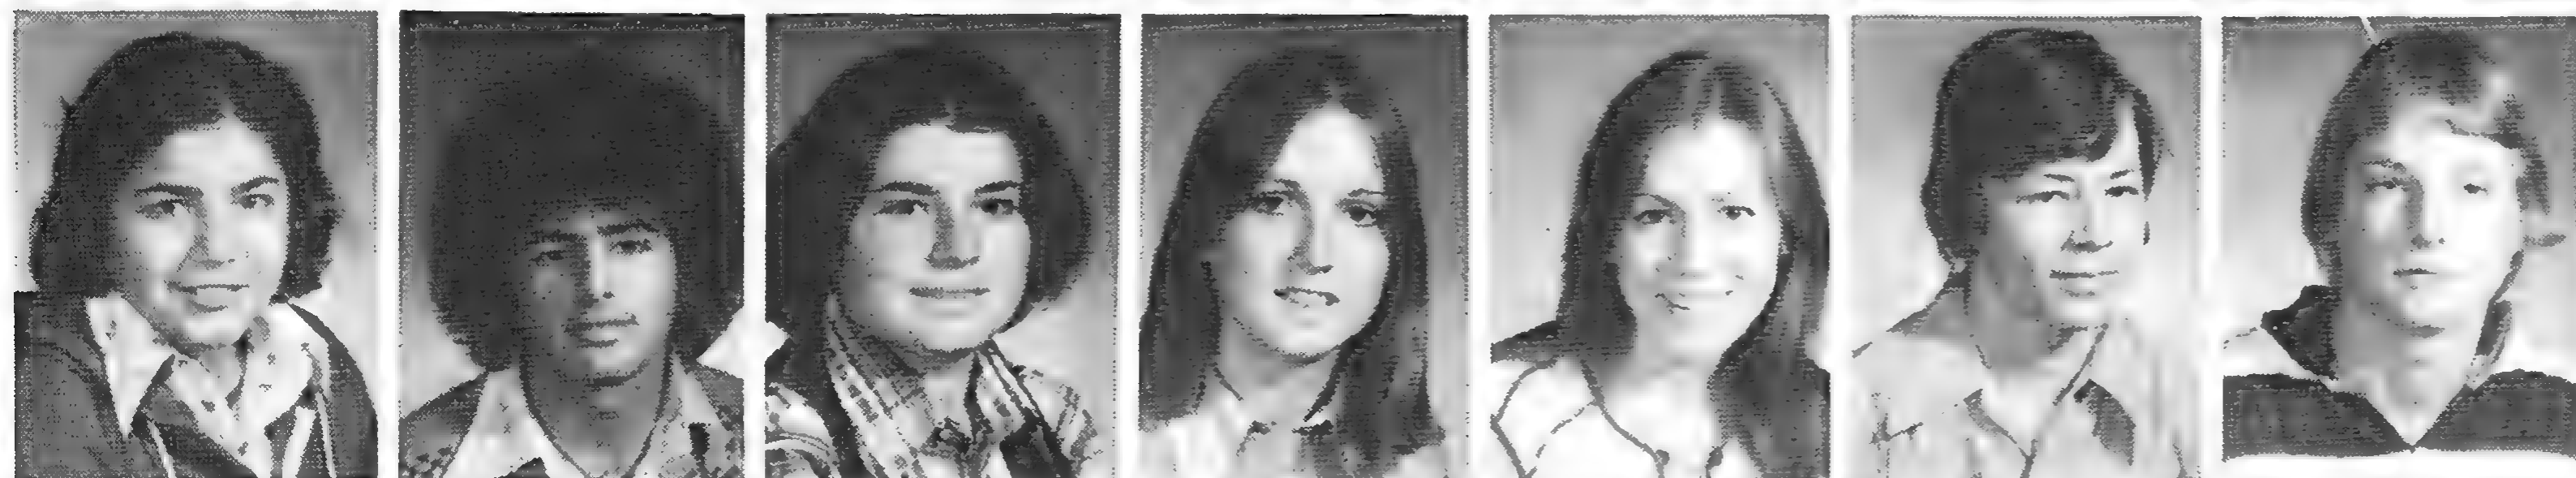

You're not going to believe this but I'm allergic to having my picture in the yearbook! (Too bad we printed it anyhow.)

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The year 1976-1977 saw the size of Westview increase as never before. With an increase in student population came also the largest student parliament ever assembled. During the year, we saw Westview raise more money for the United Way than ever before. We saw the continuing success of the music council and virtually the whole school with the success of West Side Story.

It was a year when Westview's intellectuals finally told the rest of North York who the champions were in Reach For The Top.

But most of all, it was a year that saw a change in Westview. With greater independence and mobility, students apparently did not view the boundary of the high school as the important social and educational centre it once was. As more and more students took part-time jobs, along with the usual school workload, the attitudes seemed to shift to the more materialistic aspects of life - more so than a high school student of the past.

A change in attitude also appeared in the Student Parliament. I found this year that, yes, there can be strength in numbers. A student parliament must readily deal with the presence of every student within the student body. This is true, no matter how large or complex that body becomes. Its decisions then, must always try to reflect the majority.

It was also a year that did not pass without conflict. It saw that when co-operation and communication break down within the school, some people sometimes forget themselves.

But most of all, this year should be remembered for the things each of us tried and either won or lost. Many great attempts were made by many individuals throughout the year and especially by people who did not get much recognition for what they did. Many times the people who get the most done for the school and really try, are the people you never hear much about.

I am very pleased to have had the opportunity to share in the leadership in student parliament, a role which, for myself, will always be remembered. The student parliament this year gave many who participated an experience needed for future years. For many, it was simply the experience of involvement. It was only with the co-operation and encouragement of the administration and the support of the students and the energy and selflessness of our staff advisors, that we were able to have such a successful student parliament.

I would just like to say that there is a lot of good at Westview both in potential and proven ability. I hope that this same kind of participation, involvement and support will continue throughout Westview in future parliaments and I hope that the Wildcat's roar will continue.

YEARBOOK MESSAGE

Creating a yearbook is not an easy job. It can be a fun and rewarding experience, but it is never easy. It involves long, tedious hours of organization and planning and the staff must have a strict sense of discipline and commitment. Unfortunately, the yearbook staff of 1976-77 did not have these qualities.

At the beginning of the school year, the staff had many original and enthusiastic ideas. We knew what we liked and disliked in yearbooks of the past. We truly wanted to make the yearbook something special. Gradually, as we suffered setback after setback, the enthusiasm died and the ideas burned out. Pressure and monotony set in. As a result, this yearbook is very late and is not what we wanted it to be.

We realize that the blame belongs to us and we hope that this yearbook will not discourage students from buying future yearbooks.

We would like to thank the few people who showed a genuine interest in the yearbook. Unfortunately, a yearbook seems to be only another expense for the students at Westview. It has little, if any, more meaning to the average student than a textbook. Perhaps when the yearbook becomes significant enough at Westview to matter, it will be a successful and rewarding part of the school.

Thank You

The Yearbook Staff.

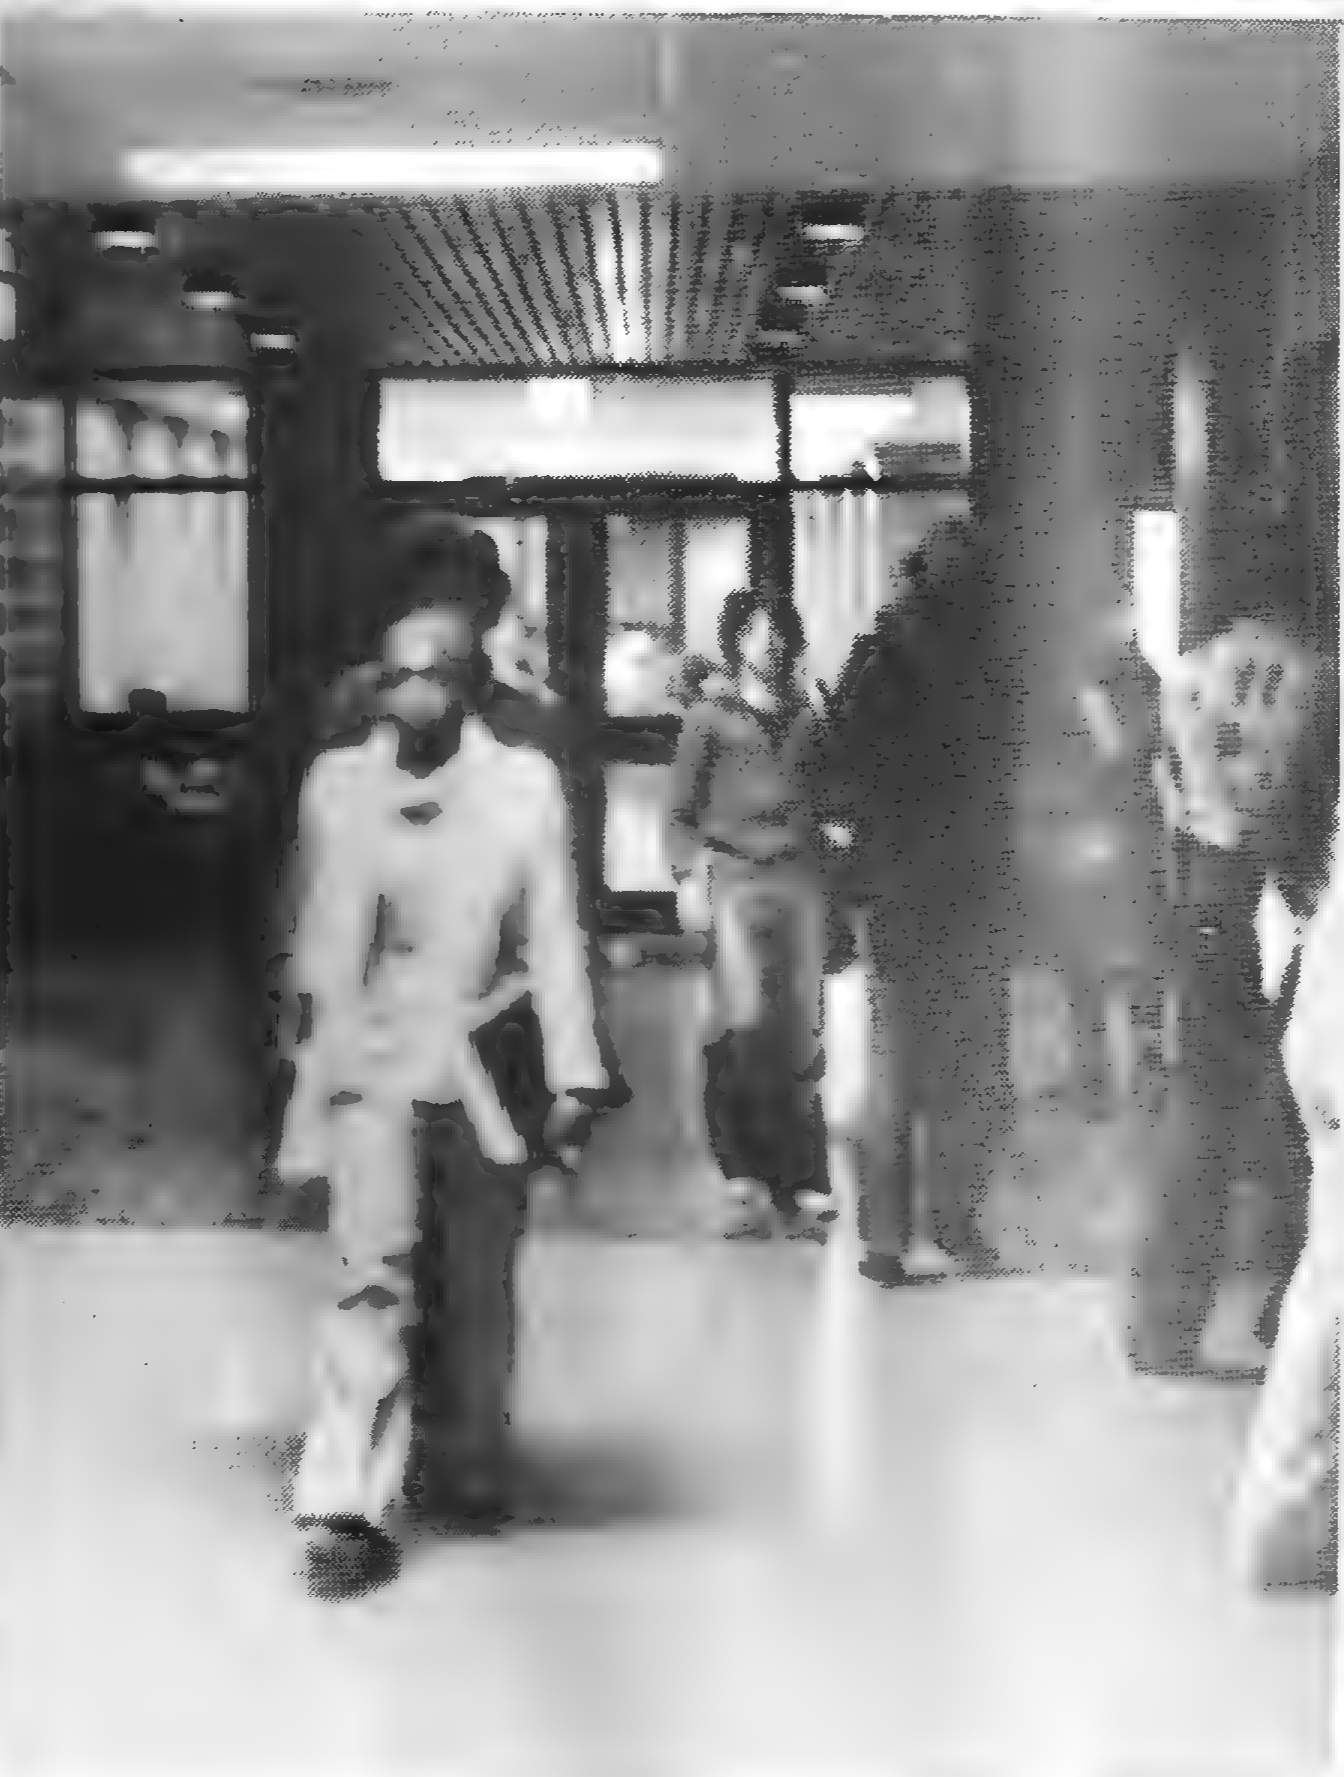

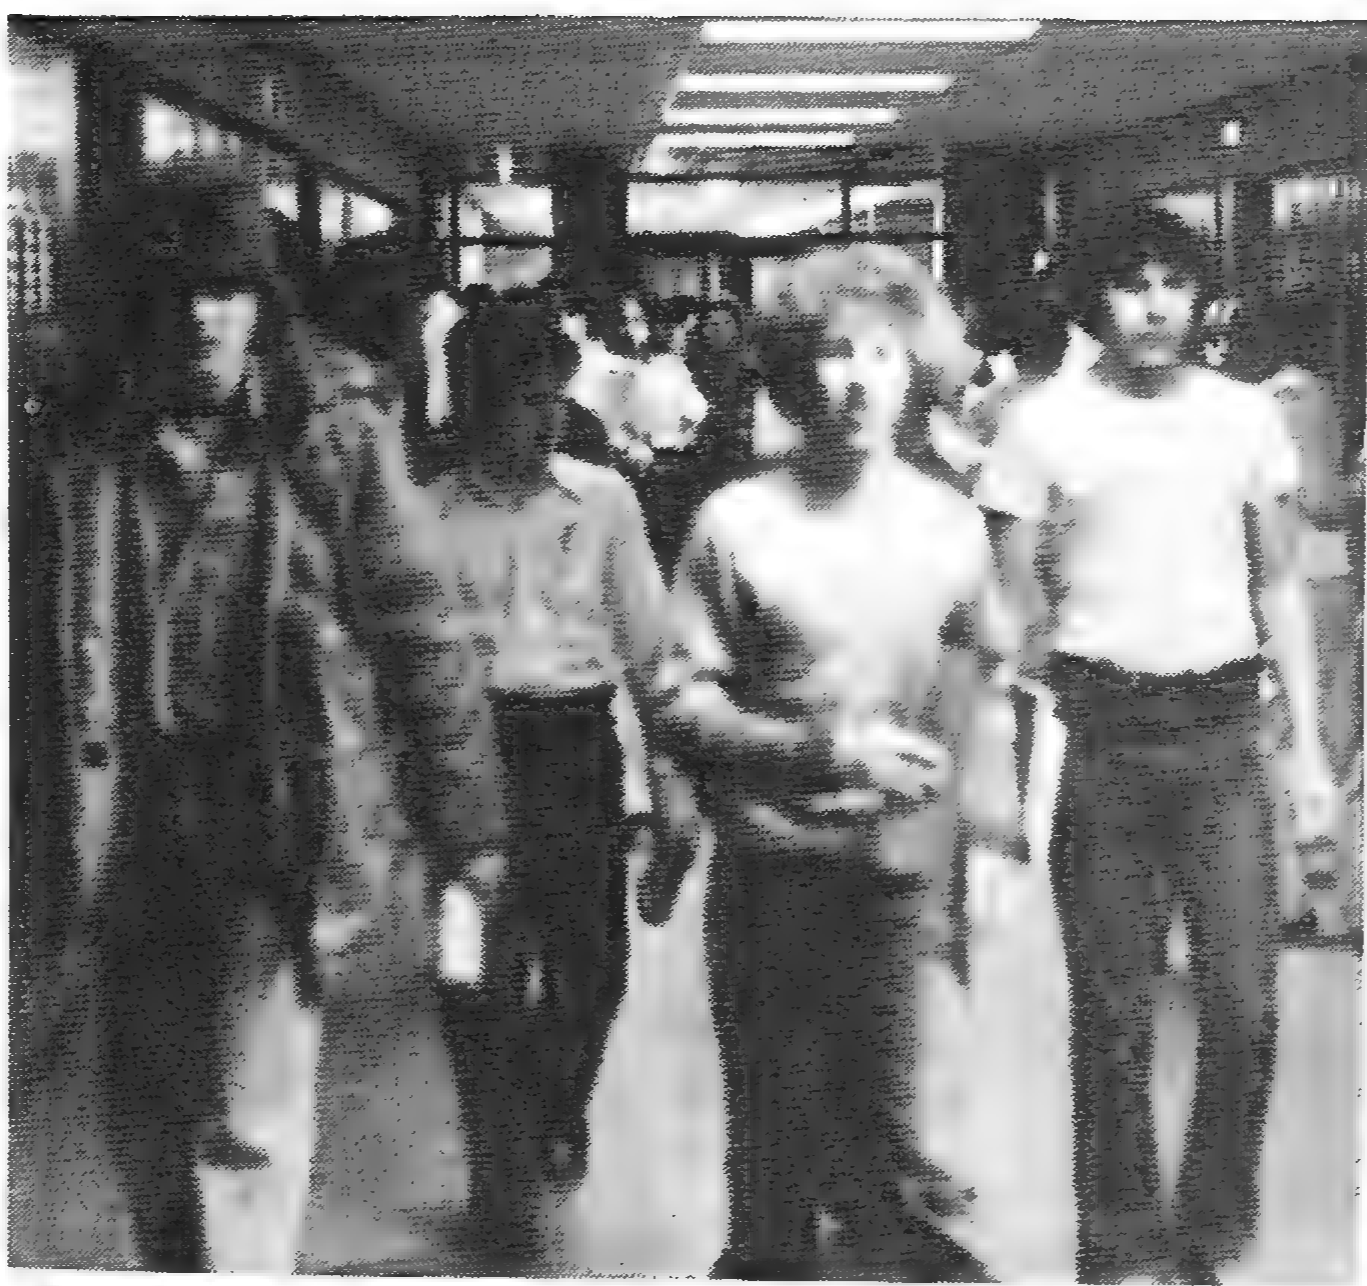

RADIO WESTVIEW

This interesting group of personalities became an unforgettable Westview memory. We came to expect the familiar voices who woke us up with their good mornings and their information about school activities. We wish Mr. Zack and his staff many more good mornings of happy broadcasting in the years ahead.

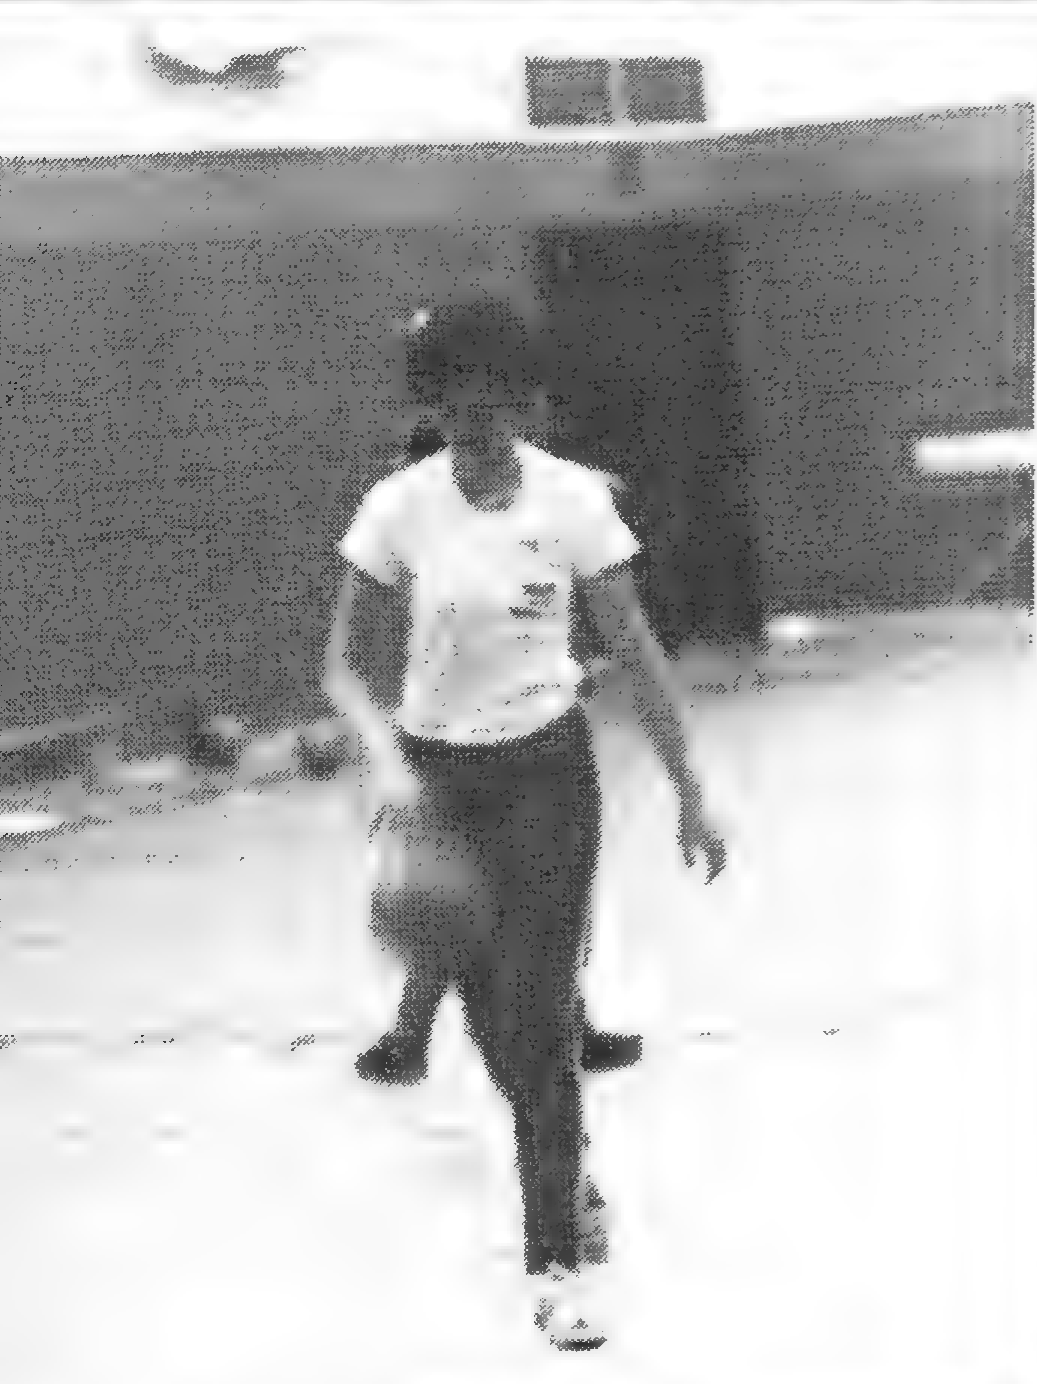

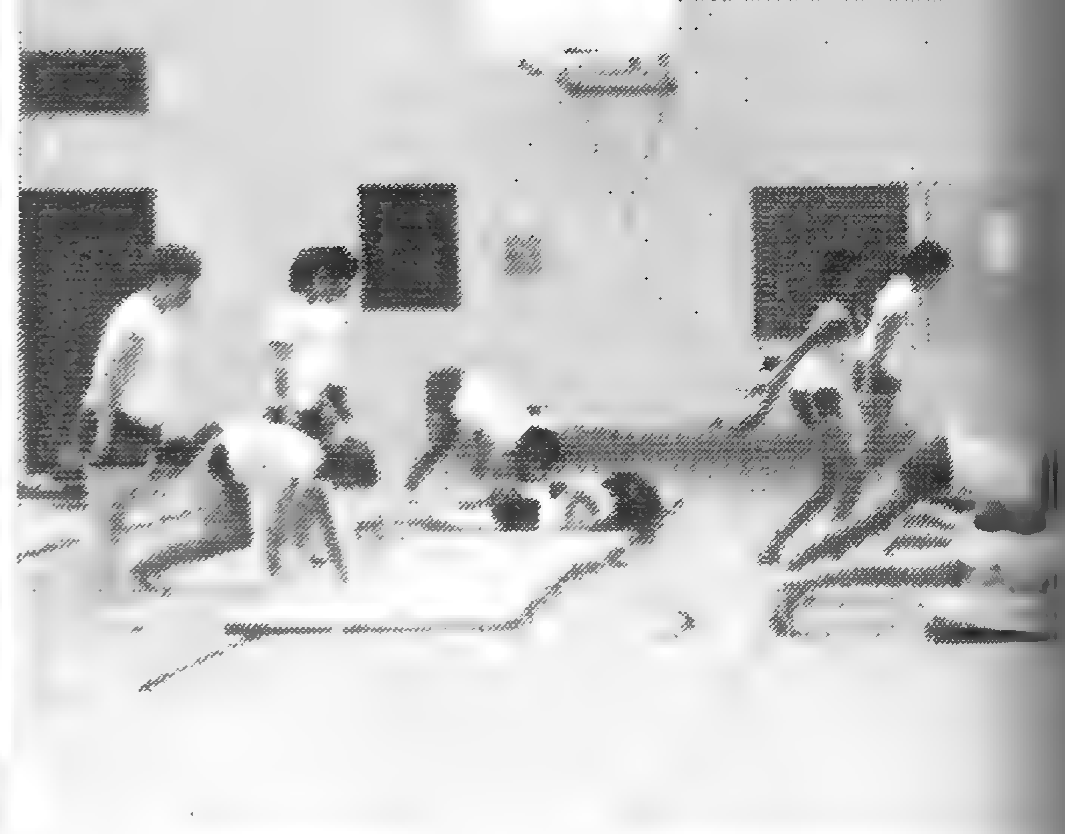

A BIT ABOUT . . .

Due to technical and other difficulties, we were unable to present many of the other Westview clubs in the yearbook. Just to show that we haven't forgotten about them, we would like to present a brief outline of their contributions this year. One of the most important groups at Westview was the Stage and Lighting Crew. This group of guys and gals, under the leadership of Mr. Wigglesworth, provided the professional lighting and sound jobs that are so important in any school event. We wish Mr. Wigglesworth and his crew continuing success . . . The Write-On staff and contributors should be recognized as a valuable Westview asset. This group, under the supervision of Mrs. Mayerson, proved, contrary to what many educators think, that high school students can read and write. These students gave the rest of the school a chance to see and share impressions of Westview and life in general. They did an excellent job and we wish them luck in the future . . . The Ebony Generation was formed by a group of black students who decided to join together and share their interests. They provided Westview with a fashion show this year and some unforgettable disco dances where everyone had a great time. Keep on boogeying Ebony Generation . . . W.C.T.V. became a name on everyone's lips at Westview. Although it was not exclusively a Westview club, they did a great job with their commercials and publicity stunts on Radio Westview this year. Their talent and originality, along with the Radio Westview staff, made the announcements a little more bearable for the students . . . The Camera Club - Well, what can we say about the Camera Club that hasn't already been said? They did an unforgettable job in photographing the events and activities at Westview. Without them, we couldn't have had a yearbook like this one. Good luck next year . . . And last but certainly not least is the Reach For The Top team. This team, composed of Maureen Dorey, Andrew Kingisepp, Elana Klinger and Dennis Moir, stunned everyone in North York with their intelligence as they went on to become the North York champions, and to represent North York in the regional finals. Although they lost by a slim margin there, the entire team should be congratulated for their excellent efforts. Special congratulations should also go to Mr. Hartley and Mr. Hanson, who did a fine job coaching the team.

The guys on these teams spiked their way into the hearts of West-view students this season. Their superb play, under the coaching of Mr. Williams and Mr. Welsh earned them places in the playoffs, where they were narrowly defeated. We all wish them luck in the future.

MONTE CARLO NIGHT

Many people joined in the fun at this year's Monte Carlo night. Everyone enjoyed the night of chance and luck, including City T.V.'s Gene Taylor. The funds raised are being used to sponsor music students on their cruise next year.
